GERMANY READY FOR LONG WAR: HITLER

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Belief is general in European capitals, and Washington as well, that Herr Hitler will offer the Anglo-French allies peace in the immediate future—as soon as the dogged remnants of the Polish army have given up their last ditch.

Such a proposal might be made through Moscow, through Signor Mussolini or through some neutral state or group of states.

Hitler's strategy has been directed to this end since the beginning of the war, at least up to the Russian occupation of eastern Poland. We have had the remarkable circumstance of his declining to attack on the western front excepting where forced to it, claiming that his quarrel was with Poland and not the allies.

This policy of appeasement has been directed especially toward France, in an apparent effort to split the Anglo-French combine. Hitler has been bitter toward England, claiming that she egged Poland on to fight.

However, if the spoken and written word still retains any meaning at all, then a German peace proposal now will fall on deaf ears. The allies are pledged to stick with Poland, dismembered or otherwise.

Britain's peace-minded but spirited Premier Chamberlain has declared that England wouldn't make terms while German troops remained on Polish soil. More than all that, he has announced that his country won't quit until "Hitlerism has been smashed."

The British government's intention to fight on for Poland was officially reaffirmed last night in a statement which condemned the Russian occupation.

The trend of this very terrible conflict will depend in large degree on Russia's future attitude.

Soviet Premier Molotov has announced that Russia will remain neutral. Like the Scotsman who was being sued for breach of promise, however, the premier wasn't as specific as the allies perhaps would have liked.

Sandy was asked by the judge if he had promised to marry the girl, to which the defendant replied:

"Yes, your honor, but I didn't say when."

The Soviet announcement doesn't specify the duration of neutrality, though it might be expected to be indefinite unless changed conditions impelled Russia to get into the melee.

In any event, Premier Molotov's

NLRB Examiner
Finds Against
Dixon Company

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner found today the Reynolds Wire Company of Dixon, Ill., violated the Wagner Labor Act by discharging an employee for union activities and by dominating and interfering with the formation and administration of Reynolds Wire Employees' association.

The finding was contained in the intermediate report of Examiner Horace A. Ruckel, who presided at an NLRB hearing from May 15 to May 24 on charges brought by lodge 2086 of the C. I. O. Steel Workers Organizing Committee.

Ruckel recommended that the company cease and desist from interfering with, restraining or coercing its employees in exercising their right to self-organization, to form, join or assist lodge 2086 or any other labor organization, to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing and to engage in concerted activities for collective bargaining and other mutual aid or protection.

The examiner also directed the company to offer reinstatement to George Carlson with back pay and without prejudice to his seniority and other rights and privileges. The company also was told to withdraw all recognition of the Reynolds Wire Employees' Association as a labor representative agency.

Company Statement

The Reynolds Wire Co., despite the report of the Labor Board Examiner, feels there was justification for the course of action that was pursued, and that it was carried out in the interest of the employees of the company and of the public generally in maintaining continued and efficient operations. It is the opinion of the management that all such actions taken by the company were entirely in accordance with the law.

Feeling convinced that they have been just and unprejudiced, the management will continue to urge its position as to the fairness and legality of its actions.

Warner Parades on Broncho and Becomes Cheyenne Chief Big Elk

Attorney H. C. Warner, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent & Protective Order of Elks, is meeting with some unique experiences in his travels over the United States attending large gatherings of Elks. On a recent visit to Woodward, Okla., the Dixon attorney met with many surprises and on each occasion he adapted himself to the surroundings without experiencing any embarrassment.

While attending an Elks gathering at Woodward he was taken from his hotel to a clothing store, where he was fitted out with a complete cow boy's regalia with ten gallon hat, chaps and all the other paraphernalia. While necessary alterations were being made, he was informed that a delegation awaited him outside the store.

ARMORY AND BRIDGE FETE
PLANS READY

Distinguished Men to Visit Dixon Thursday, Oct. 5th

Chairmen of all committees in charge of the ceremony which on the afternoon of October 5th will mark the dedication of the Abraham Lincoln stream-lined bridge across Rock river and the new Illinois National Guard Armory, met at the Chamber of Commerce today and completed plans for the program. F. Lynden Smith, director of public works and buildings will preside at the official dedication of both the bridge and armory.

In a telegram from Gov. Henry Horner, received by General Chairman Mayor William V. Slothower this morning, acknowledging the invitation extended to the governor to preside at the double dedication, it was stated that he would be unable to attend. The twin dedication will bring to Dixon for the day the principal state officers and many outstanding military figures.

In addition to Director Smith, who will deliver the dedicatory addresses, the following state of: Ernst Lieberman, chief highway engineer; Ralph C. Harris, state architect; George F. Burch, chief bridge engineer; C. Herrick Hammond, state architect; Lieut. Gov. John Stelle; James Lynch, director conservation department; O. F. Goeke, chief engineer, Dixon district; Merton M. Menler, engineer of bridge design, Dixon district; Contractor Fred Shappert and Construction Superintendent Max Summers, Belvidere; Supervising Engineer Charles Richards, Dixon, and the entire force of engineers at the Dixon district highways department. Senator George C. Dixon, this city and Representatives George S. Brydya of Prolestown, Dennis J. Collins, DeKalb and Henry White, Sonomausk are also invited guests.

Committee to Receive

The committee of Dixon business and professional men who went to Springfield to request the new bridge, will serve on the reception committee for the bridge dedication, as follows: O. F. Goeke, Sherwood Dixon, Charles E. Miller, George B. Shaw, Ed. Valle, William V. Slothower, J. B. Lennon and John L. Davies.

Many military dignitaries will be guests in the city for the dedication of the new Armory building at 3:30 in the afternoon. Among the outstanding guests present will be C. E. Miner, Chicago, Illinois director of WPA; General Sam Lawton, Chicago, member state armory board; Major Sherwood Dixon, this city, member state armory board; General Roy D. Keen, Chicago, chairman, state armory board; Brigadier General Lawrence V. Regan, Springfield, adjutant general of Illinois; Col. Albert H. Culbertson, Delavan, commanding officer, 130th infantry; Brigadier General Diller S. Myers, Pontiac, commanding officer, 65th Infantry brigade and Col. Cassius Poust, Sycamore, commanding officer, 129th infantry.

Soldiers in Uniform

Members of Company A, 129th infantry of this city will be in uniform and on duty throughout the afternoon, assisting the city police in handling the huge crowd which is expected for the double dedication program. A detail will also be on duty at the new Armory building directing the visitors.

Triple Tragedy

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A father and two of his sons were dead today, victims of Winnebago county's worst traffic accident of the year.

Clement O. Spraggins, 55, and one son Dale, 16, were killed when their automobile and a truck collided and another son, Lloyd, 22, died in a hospital last night. A third son, Joseph, 20, was injured seriously. All were of Rockford.

Last summer a fourth son, Carroll, 17, drowned in a lake here.

The elder Spraggins and his three sons were driving toward Rockford when their car and a truck driven by Gordon Callison, 21, of Janesville, Wis., collided. Callison, who was detained pending an inquest, and Joseph Kohlenberg of Beloit, Wis., the truck owner, escaped injury.

Neutrality Message to Be Delivered Personally

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has made tentative arrangements to address a joint session of the senate and house on neutrality early Thursday afternoon.

Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary, said Roosevelt would begin drafting his message today. It is expected to deal almost exclusively with revision of the neutrality law.

Early said the message would be very brief. Present plans call for Roosevelt to deliver it about 2 P. M. Eastern Standard time (1 P. M. C. S. T.).

Asked whether the brevity was due to the fact that the whole neutrality subject had been pretty well gone over heretofore, the secretary asserted that congress already had considerable information.

Arrangements for the president to deliver the message in person on the opening day of the special session were completed after Early had been in communication with Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead and Senate Majority Leader Barkley. He was unable to reach House Majority Leader Rayburn, who was enroute to the capital.

The hour for the delivery of the message, two hours after the session convenes, will allow time for the necessary organization for the new session and permit introduction and approval of a resolution providing for the senate and house to assemble in the house chambers to hear the presidential message.

Early said that the hour for the speech was, of course, subject to change after legislative leaders reached Washington and surveyed the situation.

Reich Mission Seeks
Trade With Bulgaria

Sofia, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A German trade delegation arrived today to discuss details of German-Bulgarian trade exchanges for 1940.

Well-informed quarters said the German mission was asking an immediate increase in the volume of Bulgarian export of foodstuffs to Germany.

The German delegation denied categorically that the reich had promised Turkey a free hand in Bulgaria in return for Turkish neutrality.

Poor Guesser

Detroit, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Haled into traffic court for failure to answer a reckless driving charge, Isaac Barker explained he had been caring for his newborn baby.

"How much did the baby weigh?" smiled the judge.

"About the same as any newborn baby—18 pounds," Barker guessed.

Barker now has five days in county jail to study up on the weight of babies.

RUSS INVASION
WILL NOT ALTER
BRITAIN'S STAND

Determination to Fulfill Purposes Reaffirmed
Today

BULLETIN

Paris, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The French government tonight made known its determination to prosecute the European war in spite of Soviet Russia's invasion of Poland.

A semi-official statement on the eve of a cabinet meeting tomorrow said that France would continue to carry out her war policy in co-operation with Britain.

"The occupation of part of Poland by the Russian army can not affect in any way the position taken by the two great democracies," the statement said.

London, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Informed observers said today that Great Britain and France, still firm in their pledges to Poland, would consult Polish leaders on the military situation created by the Soviet Russian invasion of Poland pending disclosure of its "full implication."

"The British ministry of information, in a statement in which it was understood France would concur formally today, declared the Soviet action—avowedly to "protect" Ukrainians and White Russians in Poland—"cannot, in view of his majesty's government, be justified by the arguments put forward by the Soviet government."

There was, however, no intimation from any informed source that the ministry's communique could be interpreted as foreshadowing a declaration of war on Russia.

"The full implication of these events is not yet apparent," said the communique, "but his majesty's government takes the opportunity of stating that nothing that has occurred can make any difference to the determination of his majesty's government, with the full support of the country, to fulfill their obligations to Poland, and to prosecute the war with all energy until their objects have been achieved."

Discussion in House

A full discussion of the situation resulting from the Russian sweep into Poland was expected in the House of Commons tomorrow after another of Prime Minister Chamberlain's reports on the war with Germany.

Comparable to the shock caused by news of Russia's Sunday invasion was yesterday's official disclosure that the Courageous, the oldest but one of the largest of Britain's seven aircraft carriers had been torpedoed and sunk.

The British Admiralty today followed up a sparsely-worded communique on the loss of the 23-year-old Courageous with a list of 681 survivors out of the ship's company of 1,260.

About 400 of the survivors were landed in England by a rescuing destroyer last night. They brought to shore vivid stories of the episode—the first sinking of a British warship in the present war.

The survivors estimated about 800 men were saved in all. Some of the rescue boats were delayed in landing until afternoon.

U-Boat Destroyed

One of the rescued men said that within five minutes after the ship was attacked he "saw pieces of the submarine blown sky high by the destroyers."

"The first torpedo penetrated

CONFERENCE SOON

While fighting for Warsaw continued, German sources indicated a conference would be held soon between Nazi and Soviet army commanders whose forces converged yesterday at Brest-Litovsk, 100 miles east of Warsaw.

They were expected to discuss control of Poland until political questions are settled. German circles said Hitler and Stalin already had reached some agreement on Poland's future.

President Roosevelt called on European belligerents to renew their pledge against bombing civilians from the air. The president's statement replied to an appeal from the Polish president re-

Costly Dare

Kansas City, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A big boy was riding his bicycle in the street. Five-year-old Mark Duffy stood in his path.

"Dare you to run over me," he said.

"O. K.," said the big boy and he did, breaking two bones in Mark's left leg.

Fast Freight Train is Derailed; Probe Sabotage

Chester, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The engine and five cars of the Blue Streak, fast cotton belt freight train, were derailed early today in a wreck blamed by an investigator on possible sabotage.

Fireman A. V. Shumway of Fornefeld, Mo., suffered severe head injuries when the south-bound train swerved into a siding, 22 miles north of here, and collided with two empty coal cars of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Superintendent C. W. Exline of the Missouri Pacific investigated the collision and said he believed someone had tampered with a switch, causing the freight, traveling 35 miles per hour, to leave the main line and run into the siding.

ISOLATED FORCES
STILL RESISTING
GERMAN INVADERS

Sea Operations Against
Poland Are Started
By Russians

By The Associated Press

Only Warsaw's defenders and two other isolated Polish forces were reported still resisting the invaders of Poland today.

The German army reported a nine-day battle north of Lodz had ended with capitulation of encircled Polish forces. Fifty thousand and prisoners and "immense booty" were reported taken by the Germans.

The British admiralty, counting losses from the war at sea, said 681 survivors were accounted for of the 1,260 men aboard the aircraft carrier Courageous when sunk by a submarine. That left 579 missing.

Two British trawlers were sunk. The Soviet general staff reported its troops were approaching Wilno and Lwow continuing to "eject" Polish forces.

Rumanian border dispatches said a government friendly to Germany and Russia soon would be set up in Poland to form a buffer between the two great powers.

Sea operations against Poland were started by Russia.

Nazi Attack Repulsed

France declared a German attack in the Saarland "has been repulsed."

Swiss reports said German forces facing French and British on the west had been strengthened by men and equipment from the eastern front.

Anticipating a major attack, Britain and France also reinforced their western front lines.

Britain said the Soviet march into Poland could not "be justified by arguments put forward" by Russia and pledged to "prosecute the war with all energy."

A Berlin communique said Germany's enemies were "doing manifold trench digging" on the western front and that "dissolution and capitulation" of Poland's army was "progressing rapidly" in the east.

Renew Warsaw Attack

Military operations against besieged Warsaw were resumed but Germany did not disclose whether the Polish capital was being shelled or bombed.

Soviet "measures" against the remainder of Poland's submarine fleet, believed to be hiding in the Baltic, were announced.

Polish staff officers in Rumania estimated 18 days of bitter fighting against Germany had cost between 50,000 and 100,000 Polish casualties. They said German casualties were between 35,000 and 50,000.

President Ignace Moscicki of Poland headed across Russia for a haven near the Bulgarian frontier.

The Polish embassy in Paris said Poland's government had transferred headquarters outside its nation to preserve "the possibility of guarding interests of the republic."

While fighting for Warsaw continued, German sources indicated a conference would be held soon between Nazi and Soviet army commanders whose forces converged yesterday at Brest-Litovsk, 100 miles east of Warsaw.

They were expected to discuss control of Poland until political questions are settled. German circles said Hitler and Stalin already had reached some agreement on Poland's future.

Tragedy's Sequel

Stockholm, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A pencilled message in a bottle washed up on the Norwegian coast provided a sequel today to the disappearance of Charles Backman, 27-year-old Swedish flyer lost on an attempted trans-Atlantic solo flight last May.

A customs officer at the Swedish-Norwegian border reported finding the message, which he said bore Backman's name and told of a crash in mid-ocean. The writer said he would be lost if no help came within three days.

(Backman, who had lived for a time in St. Louis and Chicago, took off for Sweden from St. John's, Newfoundland, last May 16 and was unreported thereafter. He flew a 90-horsepower, single-motored monoplane with no radio.)

Polish Fighters
Believe Britain
Will Come to Aid

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

Gdynia, Poland, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Some 2,000 or 3,000 Polish troops were desperately waging a fight against great odds today on the heights west of Gdynia known as Oblosz and in the village of Ochshoef because as some captives said, "we are waiting for the British to arrive."

Eye witnesses watched the battle from a distance of only two miles on the eastern height above Gdynia known as Steinberg.

By the time Fuehrer Hitler had arrived at Zoppot, Danzig beach resort, shortly after 2 P. M. (7 A. M. C.S.T.) this fight seemed at its height, with Germany's armed might on land, sea and air pounding away at the Polish positions.

Also within 30 minutes I saw both the city (Danzig) putting on its Sunday best to receive the fuhrer and the conquered port of Gdynia showing marks of the armed conflict. Here solemn people walked about, seemingly not knowing what to do with themselves unless they happened to be standing in long queues to get ration cards or comply with some other formality of the German army of occupation.

Standing on Steinberg Heights east of Gdynia some 60 correspondents from the four corners of the globe saw the Germans advance in three waves on Oblosz Heights. Each time during our one hour's stay they won some 10 yards more of hotly-contested ground. Each attack was preceded by scouting planes dropping light signals to guide the artillery.

The Poles apparently had no communications with the outside world and, according to the captives, still believed the British were about to come.

Sneak Thieves Active in Northwest Dixon

A sneak thief and house prowler has been active in Swissville recently and three homes were reported to have been visited. At the Ed Nelson home, the thief forced an entrance through a screen door and succeeded in grabbing two pairs of trousers belonging to Kenneth Nelson, before he was driven out of the house by a dog. The trousers were found in the back yard at the Carl Hess home the following day. The theft was not productive as the pockets were empty.

At another residence in the neighborhood, the thief was reported to have ransacked a dresser while the occupants slept soundly, and to have escaped with about $23 in money. Another home in the northwest section of Dixon was entered and ransacked and eight cents was reported to have been taken.

NO INTENTION OF WAR MOVE
UPON ALLIES

Fuehrer Gives Fiery
Speech Reclaiming
Danzig

Danzig, Sept. 19.—(AP by Radio)—Adolf Hitler emphasized today that "We have no war intention against either England or France," and that Germany seeks to achieve "a lasting peace."

"Russia and Germany will settle this (Polish) situation and this will result in the removal of the tension," he declared.

However, he expressed a determination to continue the war as long as he was forced, saying the word "surrender" would not be uttered. "Nor at the end of the sixth or the seventh year," he shouted. "The generation of today is not the generation of Bethmann-Hollweg."

Earlier he had said the Germany of today "no longer is a country to which ultimatums can be dictated."

The world war, he continued, "made no sense." The peace imposed on the Germans at Versailles, he said, had worked great oppression, but the time had come for them to live again, he added. His voice, which had been under considerable restraint when he started, rose to high emotional tenacity at times. If the world outside Germany thinks it should not believe in the word of German statesmen, he continued, it should also be critical of the statesmen of the countries which forced the peace terms upon the Germans.

Treaty "Stupidity"

The peace offers made at the time of Versailles spelled "stupidity," Hitler said, and cast doubt upon the sanity of the men who made them. States were cut up and destroyed by those peace terms, der fuhrer went on. All the Polish territory taken away from Germany at the end of the World War held the best in German labor and culture, he said.

"Only those who are culturally created have the right to exist," he said. He said he had attempted in the past to find "a reasonable solution to the problem." He said he tried to establish borders in the west and in the south and had tried to make an agreement with Pilsudski which had as its purpose amicable relations between the Poles and the Germans.

"As long as Pilsudski lived this was possible," he said.

At this point Hitler said that what had depressed him and caused him suffering was that nazis had had to suffer at the hands of an inferior state, while "Germany was a superior state." Poland tried to make the German inhabitants of the Polish territory into Poles, he shouted. "What would England, France or America have done under similar circumstances?" he asked, turning to the matter of the Polish

D. H. S. Chapter

Reporter LeRoy Siden

The vocational agriculture department of the Dixon high school held its first meeting Wednesday, Sept. 13 to elect officers for the coming year. The following boys were elected:

President, Kenneth Hecker; vice president, Elmer Ringler; secretary, Ellwyn Swegle; treasurer, Gilbert Scheffer; program chairman, Gail Harms and reporter, LeRoy Siden.

The "Future Farmers of America" of Dixon high school are sending President Kenneth Hecker and Secretary and Treasurer Robert Hill to the first annual F. F. A. officers' training school which is to be held on a state-wide basis.

The purpose of the school is to bring officers of the various chapters in the state together for concentrated study of parliamentary procedure, building programs of work, keeping accurate minutes of meeting, work of various officers, and to secure a general knowledge of the organization. It is believed that a training school of this type will be helpful to the local officers, who are necessarily new each year, in promoting good working programs. The school is being conducted by vocational agriculture instructors, assisted by state and federal vocational agriculture supervisors. The State Association of Future Farmers of America was composed of 347 chapters and 9,750 members last year.

The state officers are: Leland Glazebrook of Fisher, Ill., president, Wm. C. Bettenhausen, Jr., Peotone, secretary and treasurer, and Ralph Fulton, Ashton, reporter.

The school will be held in the Junior Home Economics building at the state fair grounds, Springfield, Ill., on Sept. 22 and 23.

The program of the training school will consist of:

1. Parliamentary procedure, lectures and practice.

2. Characteristics of leadership.

The Dixon F. F. A. chapter entered a judging team in the Junior Live Stock Judging contest held recently at the Lee county fair and horse show. There were nineteen teams in competition from F. F. A. and 4-H club groups from northern Illinois. Dixon F. F. A. team was awarded first prize which was a beautiful silver loving cup presented by R. W. Sterling. The cup will be on display in the main corridor of the Dixon high school.

FIGURES REVEAL CORN QUOTAS NOT NEEDED THIS YEAR

Corn growers in Lee county are proceeding with plans for harvesting and marketing their crop of 135,000 acres without going through a referendum on corn marketing quotas, following the announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that such a referendum was unnecessary.

His decision, which has just been officially reported to officials of the county AAA office, was based upon an indicated supply of 2,993,000,000 bushels of corn during the coming marketing year. This includes a prospective 1939 crop of 2,523,000,000 bushels and a carry-over of 470,000,000 bushels as of October 1.

This indicated supply of corn during the coming marketing year is 97 million bushels less than the 1939 marketing quota level of 3,030,000,000 bushels indicated under provisions of the agricultural adjustment act of 1938 and in view of the current European situation.

A referendum would have been required under the agricultural adjustment act had the prospective supply been larger than the marketing quota level.

However, even if marketing quotas had been passed in such a referendum, they would not have affected farmers who had planted within their corn acreage allotment, officials pointed out.

The quota level was higher than it otherwise would have been as a result of a number of factors which were taken into account in setting the figure, officials pointed out.

For one thing, under the con-

EROSION CONTROL WILL BEGIN SOON IN OGLE COUNTY

The CCC soil conservation camp to be established at Oregon will begin erosion control work on cooperators' farms in October, according to an announcement received from B. B. Clark, state coordinator of the Soil Conservation Service.

Enrollees now located at the Le Roy camp will be transferred to Oregon. Soil conservation work of the LeRoy camp has been practically completed, Clark said.

The purpose of the camp is to help farmers establish a demonstration of erosion control through soil and water conservation, according to Gordon M. Flint, area conservationist of the Service in the Kewanee office, through which the Oregon camp will be administered.

The area will be used as a demonstration by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture and Farm Adviser D. E. Warren, who are cooperating in the program. The camp will remain at Oregon just long enough to establish a complete program of soil conservation and proper land use on a limited number of farms in the area. These farms will be selected by directors of the county association. Watersheds, comprising a group of five or six farms in each of ten or twelve sections of the county, will be selected for first service. The camp will be moved to a new location in approximately two years.

First Activity

The first activity of the Soil Conservation Service technicians in the new camp area will be to work out plans and write cooperative agreements with farmers.

No work can be done on a farm until the farm owner and operator and the government sign a cooperative agreement outlining the program of soil conservation to be followed on that farm for a period of five years, Flint said. The agreement will specify work to be done by each party.

The Soil Conservation Service will provide technical assistance to farmers in planning and applying cropping systems, soil treatment, and use of soil-saving practices such as contour tillage, strip cropping, gully dams, and terracing as may be needed to conserve soil and demonstrate wise land use on each farm.

Flint explained that CCC labor would be used for planting trees, building gully dams, improving woodlands, and various other jobs to be done on cooperators' farms. The service also will provide equipment for some of the terracing and other jobs.

The farmer will supply the materials needed and some labor, and will demonstrate a complete program of soil and water conservation on his farm as specified in the cooperative agreement, Flint added.

More than 90 per cent of the fur and wool used in making hats is produced in Europe. Central America produces most of the straw, while the silk comes almost exclusively from the Orient.

sumer safeguard clause of the agricultural adjustment act, the ten-year average consumption was adjusted to provide a balance in consumption equal to the 1920-29 period. Because of the European situation and the prospect of improved industrial conditions, no downward adjustments were made for changes in domestic consumption and in exports of meat and livestock products.

Had it not been for these factors, the marketing quota level would have been set lower than it was.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER TO POULTRY RAISERS

The question in the mind of everyone who raises chickens is, What's going to happen to the poultry market? I wish I could answer it. But with conditions that affect the market changing every hour, no one knows what is going to happen.

All year we have been hearing about the abundance of food in this country. In fact, there was such a surplus of some foods that the government felt it should buy them for distribution to families on relief in order to support the market. Among other things, they bought eggs and they were being bought by many producer groups to buy poultry.

No surplus can turn into a shortage overnight, even if war is declared.

I grant you there has been an artificial shortage the last week or so because, in their excitement, people rushed to buy food and at the same time producers refused to sell. But there is no actual shortage.

Don't Hold Cockerels

So, with the largest crop of poultry we have had in years—and most of it still in the country, I can't see how the poultry market can advance enough to justify a person's feeding high-priced grain to chickens that are ready for market now.

Egg prices are rising and I've heard of people holding their eggs, hoping to get more for them the following week. The price advanced as they expected, but in the meantime the eggs hadn't been getting any fresher and they didn't grade very well. So the people weren't a cent ahead.

It seems to me the sensible way to take advantage of the rising egg market, is to get the pullets into production as soon as possible, and keep all the non-producers culled out of the laying flock. You can make money producing eggs, even with grain prices higher, but it doesn't take many hens that aren't laying to eat up your profit.

Get Pullets Into Production

The president has stated several times that he is strongly opposed to profiteering and will do everything possible to prevent it.

I don't think there's anyone who doesn't get indignant at the thought of profiteers—people who hoard supplies until they can sell them at a higher price.

But when it comes right down to it, what are farmers doing but holding out for higher prices.

Everyone in the country is being urged to buy normally. I think there is just as much reason why we should be urged to sell normally.

If you will sell your eggs regularly and sell your chickens in an orderly way, as they are ready for market, I think you will be a lot better off in the end. You will prevent the collapse in the market which is likely if poultry is allowed to accumulate in the country until cold weather forces everyone to sell it at once. And by selling your cockerels, you will give the pullets the room they need.

In my opinion, you stand to gain more by getting pullets into production than by holding cockerels that are ready to sell.

Franklin

Announce Drive to Rid County of Rat Menace

The delighted squeals of rats will be heard the length and breadth of the countryside on Oct. 13th, for that is the day selected for the fatal banquet to the rats in Lee county. Delicious foods, mixed with red squill, will be exposed the same night on farms and other premises, resulting, it is hoped, in the elimination of the dreaded rat pest from the county. The campaign is sponsored by the Lee County Farm Bureau and the Extension Service in direct cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Biological survey.

As a result of years of experience in rat control, the federal rat specialists have perfected the one-day county-wide plan. Red squill is the fatal ingredient of the bait that will be available on the day of the rat banquet. Rats take the red squill bait quite readily and only a small part of a teaspoonful is needed to cause death, the experts say. Other animals, such as cats and dogs, may accidentally take some of the bait but it causes vomiting and the red squill is thus eliminated.

Fish and meat are the foods used. The idea of preparing two baits, according to the Biological Survey, is to serve the rats a meal so they can choose the type of food they like best. Improvements have been made, year by year, and now the concoction is made tasty enough for the most discriminating of rats.

Bait distribution places have been named in every township in the county. Orders for the bait must be placed with a bait distributor at least a week in advance of the banquet day, so that the quantity of bait needed for the entire county can be obtained and be on hand the day of the campaign. People will place their advance orders for bait through a distributor, then return on Oct. 13, obtain their bait, take it home and expose it that night. Baits will be distributed in 13 places in the county.

In the meantime, every person is urged to use other methods before the banquet night that will result in permanent rat riddance. Cleaning up trash, removing rat harbors, and rat-proofing the places where food is stored should be done now. Then expose the tasty baits so that every rat will get a "tummy" full of red squill on the night of the rat banquet.

AMBOY MAN WILL ACT AS JUDGE AT CATTLE CONGRESS

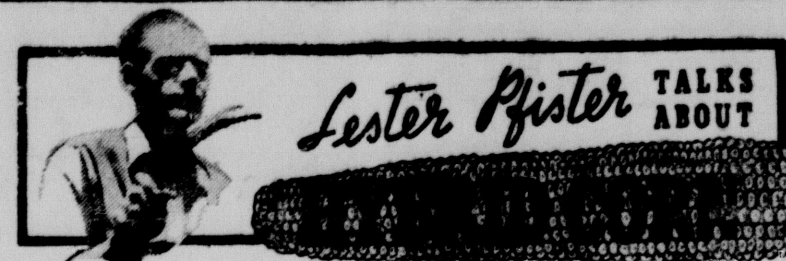

Illinois dairy cattlemen will go to the Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Ia. next week to compete with breeders from 19 other states for 20 thousand dollars in premiums and the applause of 200 thousand spectators.

Exhibitors include Wayne Slutz & Sons, Princeton; St. James Farm, Naperville; Whitehurst Farms, Canton; Schultz Brothers, Sterling; A. E. Bower & Son, Bushnet; Wagler Brothers, Bushnet; Roy Neill & Son, Tiskilwa; E. J. Hieser, Pekin; Philip Brecher & Sons, Pekin; Elwyn Hieser, Pekin; R. A. Hieser, Pekin; Wagler Brothers, Pekin, and Marcella Wagler, Pekin. Of these, the last six named will have animals entered in a state herd. A state herd consists of 10 animals owned by four or more breeders.

In the National Belgian Horse Show, twin sister of the Dairy Cattle Congress, Illinois will be represented by Sugar Grove Farm of Aurora.

Participating in a Cow Testers' Judging Contest will be Dale Griffin, Rockford, James Colgan, Amboy; William D. Erwin, Elizabeth; Donald E. Dietmeier, Freeport; Frank Ochsmier, Dakota; Gordon E. Jones, Grayslake; Lloyd E. Umel, Princeton; Raymond Griffin, Freeport, and Kenneth Goldy, of Woodstock.

Lester Piester TALKS ABOUT

Most people have to scrape hard to get all the credit that is due them. But I am luckier . . . in fact I find myself in the position of wanting to clear up some misconceptions and to disclaim credit that has been attributed to me.

While none of the various chronicles of my work in developing inbreds and hybrids have ever specifically made the claim that I was the originator of hybrid seed corn, the impression has somehow gotten around in some parts of the corn belt that when I finally succeeded in introducing successful hybrid corn after a number of years of discouraging trial, desperation and poverty, I was the first to do so.

This is not correct. As a matter of fact, there have been experiments going on in this line since 1898. Many outstanding breeders have devoted unceasing efforts towards the development of successful hybrids and general corn improvement. All I can say in justification of myself is that I was lucky enough to be the first independent breeder, working on my own time and resources, to develop a commercially acceptable hybrid.

When the story of hybrid corn is finally written—if the writing of it could ever be called complete—there should appear recognition of such men as the following:

Henry Wallace, now secretary of agriculture, who developed the hybrid in the corn belt as a practical proposition.

Professor Mosher, of the University of Illinois, who did outstanding work in comparison tests of yields of the best open-pollinated strains.

Summer Playhouse Closes Season at Old Illini Hall

With the final performance Sunday night of the hilarious Me-grue-Hackett comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," the Grand Detour Players rang down the curtain for the last time this season. Yesterday afternoon, Richard Vernon, the Players' director, returned to Chicago to complete preparations for the winter theater season.

"It Pays to Advertise" was the last production to be presented by the Players during their 14-week season. The Grand Detour company has established a new record for summer theaters in the Midwest. Mr. Vernon believes, most straw hat playhouses having closed their doors on or before Labor Day.

Throughout the summer months, theater-goers from northern Illinois and beyond have enjoyed motoring to the quaint village of Grand Detour to see the plays. The playhouse itself has been of much interest, since it is housed in old Illini hall, which was rented to the troupe by Dr. E. J. Hewitt of Oak Park, honorary "summer mayor" of Grand Detour.

One group after another, interested in the theater, has found its way to the playhouse, and each week, one has noticed new faces in the audience as a result of the enthusiastic reports of friends who have been there previously. Forty students from Oregon high school attended Thursday evening's performance, accompanied by Miss Winston, faculty member.

Several of the Belfry Players, who recently closed their sixth summer in the old Mormon church at Williams Bay, Wis., were in the audience Sunday evening. Dr. and Mrs. W. A. McNichols were among Dixonites making up parties for the concluding performance.

A laughter-filled evening awaited theater patrons who turned out for the concluding show. Ray Shaw, Howard Ledig and Merrill Bernbrock, three favorites with Grand Detour audiences, added another triumph to those they had already achieved. Ledig was particularly convincing in his stream-lined advertising tirades, in which he boasted "Give me a little money and a little time—and I'll sell you shares in the Atlantic ocean." The play also afforded an opportunity for the theater-goers to enjoy another able performance by Miss Olive Bernard, a recent-comer to the company.

Mascot Goes Too
Returning to Chicago yesterday with Mr. Vernon were Miss Bernard, Miss Ruth Rowe, Mr. Ledig, Mrs. Bernbrock, Mr. Shaw and Mr. Jensen. Accompanying them was Caesar, a dog of uncertain pedigree, which attached himself to the Players earlier in the season.

Another member of the company, Miss Dorothy Fellows, left yesterday morning for her home in Belvidere, and the Misses Dolores Greene and Velma Zahn have gone to their homes in Rockford. The Rockford members of the troupe, together with Wayne Magill of Sterling, who appeared as the servant in last week's comedy, expect to enroll in Mr. Vernon's Chicago classes for the winter.

Mrs. Clarence Hough, publicity director and promoter for the Players, will remain in Grand Detour until Thursday or Friday, completing an interpretation she will present on Monday at a literary tea at the Pearson hotel in Chicago. She has chosen Claude Bragdon's autobiography, "More Life Than One."

Mr. Vernon expects to present his company in two 13-week winter tours, including performances in 26 towns in ten surrounding states. After the opening period, the players will return to the Playbox Theater in Chicago for rehearsal. "Love From a Stranger" and "Goodbye Again," which were produced by the company in Grand Detour, are the plays he is considering for the tour.

The stock company has set June 7 as the tentative date for opening its second season at Grand Detour next year, and "Tovarich" is to be the first production.

FRESHMAN PARENTS TO MEET FRESHMAN FACULTY MEMBERS

Members of the Dixon High school Parent-Teacher association are arranging a "Freshman Parent" party for 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the high school cafeteria. Every freshman parent is invited to meet freshman teachers, and to hear a discussion of freshman problems and school requirements by Principal B. J. Frazier.

Refreshments will be served, following the meeting. Mrs. P. O. Heckman, chairman of the freshman mother's committee, is in charge of the affair. Her committee members include Mesdames G. T. Van Nuys, George Richard, Herbert Hoon, and Carl Hasselberg.

BRIDGE GROUP RESUMES PLAY

Members of an Amboy bridge group resumed their fall and winter party series last evening at the home of Mrs. Sherman L. Shaw, Jr. in Lee Center. Mrs. James Thompson and Miss Carolyn Bachman received score favors, and Miss Ethel Ross won the all-out prize.

Mrs. Shaw's guests numbered Mesdames William Jacob, John A. Liggett, Raymond Finn, Leo Drew, James Thompson, and the Misses Marie Ross, Ethel Ross, and Carolyn Bachman. Miss Marie Ross will entertain in two weeks.

O. E. S. CLUB

Members of the O. E. S. Parlor club made up seven tables for bridge at their opening party of the season yesterday in the Masonic temple. A dessert course preceded the contract games, in which Mrs. Ruggles and Mrs. Wilbur Leake won prizes.

The hostess committee included Mrs. Morey Pires, chairman, Mrs. W. H. Ware, Mrs. Emmert, Mrs. Eugene Barrowman, and Mrs. Howard Edwards.

JOLLY CIRCLE

Thirty-five guests attended the picnic given Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gilbert at the Paul McGinnis cottage on the Rock river. A fried chicken menu was enjoyed by the group.

PAN-AMERICANISM GETS ITS OPPORTUNITY

Sooner than anyone expected, the principle of "continental solidarity" affirmed at the Lima conference last winter, approaches a test of its practical value.

Late this month, in accordance with the Declaration of Lima, representatives of the 21 American republics will meet in Panama to consider the European war and its effect on the Americas.

The machinery for all this was set up at Lima. Already comes the answer to those who said the Lima meeting brought forth mere generalities, without binding action. These principles were unanimously affirmed at Lima: that it was the intention to defend the independence of all "against all foreign intervention or activity," to "consult" if the "peace, security or territorial integrity of any American republic is threatened by acts of any nature that may impair them."

Nine months after the Declaration, the very circumstances against which the American countries sought to protect themselves have arisen. The consultations agreed on at Lima are about to take place.

It is unlikely that any sort of military alliances or formal joint action will emerge from the Panama conference. That was not the spirit of Lima, which kept clearly in mind that the governments would act independently and as fully equal sovereign states.

But when the same situation faces all, it is more than likely that certain basic lines of action may be laid down which all will feel inclined to follow. That sort of agreement on mutual interest and mutual policy is the only sort of agreement worth having, anyway. Ask Poland. Ask Austria. Ask Italy.

On this one point, all the American countries are in perfect agreement. Any aggressive act against one is an aggression against all—not because of any agreement to call it such, but because it is an evident fact. We of the Americas are all in the same boat.

While it is true that the burden of actual defense in any such case falls on the United States, it is a burden that it assumes inevitably, not merely because of some mystical tie, but as a practical necessity.

Meanwhile, the South American countries are far from defenseless. Brazil has more than 300,000 soldiers and trained reserves, Argentina almost as many; Chile could produce nearly 200,000 soldiers, Mexico and Bolivia more than 100,000 each. The Chilean, Argentinian and Brazilian navies, though small, are excellent and would be effective in any defensive scheme. The countries to the south could probably muster at least 1,000 fighting airplanes. Defense plans are far from falling exclusively on North American shoulders.

Greater than any final and binding decisions that may be reached at Panama will be, once again, the further opportunity to explore each others' minds and arrive at mutual understandings deeper and more permanent than pacts. When mutual interdependence and interest are made clear, there is never any lack of co-ordinated action to follow.

WILFULLY BLIND

Try as they may, those who insist taxes are too high never have been able to make people of low income believe they pay any taxes. In any crowd where the subject of government spending is mentioned, there will be found a large number who feel they are not affected.

This blindness is resulting in plunder that must be stopped to keep us from drifting into dictatorship.

Immediately before the World War the cost of federal government was a billion a year. During the next fiscal year the cost will be around 13 billions. The taxpayer must decide whether we are getting thirteen times the value. Add to this sum the increased cost of local governments, and it will be seen that in the average man's life the cost of government, federal, state and local, is an item that rates right along with rent and groceries.

We are now paying taxes that average a quarter of our annual earnings. The wage earner who takes home a $25 pay envelope every Saturday is not listed as an income tax payer. If he rents his house, he is not mentioned in the real estate tax lists. He gets a bill for a few dollars on his personal property, and he pays that with his head in the sand.

But the poor man is taxed in a different way. He is taxed, not on the basis of what he receives, but on the basis of what he spends. A man with $25 a week usually spends every last cent sooner or later, so he is taxed for the whole hog. He pays taxes when he pays his rent. He pays taxes when he buys a package of cigarettes, a pair of shoes for the baby, and for medicine when the baby gets the croup.

Still, it is easy to find scores of men in the low income brackets who maintain stoutly they pay practically nothing in taxes. It is time for the public to awaken.

HOW MANY DEAD?

One of the interesting things about the European censuses thus far has been their silence on casualties. Such announcements have been few, far between, and unspecific.

The Germans, after two weeks of the Polish campaign, finally admitted 1,500 dead and between 12,000 and 15,000 total casualties. Since then the Poles have made their bitter stand at Warsaw; German casualties must by now be double the announced figure. The Poles' losses must have been far, far greater. So it would not be surprising if 10,000 men are already dead and 100,000 wounded in three weeks' war in Poland, to say nothing of the civilians, men, women, and children, dead by bullet and bomb. And this is the merest rehearsal of what full-fledged war on the western front will mean if it is released in all its fury.

RED "ANGEL"

"Arise, ye prisoners of starvation!" begins one of the more ringing Communist hymns. But it seems now that one of those who rose the highest was in the least danger of starvation.

He is, it turns out, a wartime millionaire who made a neat sum selling war supplies to the Allies during the World War (the Imperialist World War, said the Comrades) and who also exploited his later Red connections by getting some nice contracts from Comrade Stalin. And so he "angeled" the Communist party here as chief deficit-eraser for many years.

Well, after all, it is not the first proof that anyone smart enough to make a million dollars is smart enough to work both sides of the street.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Sept. 19.—Reason for wars can usually be found in trade figures. Nations fight ordinarily only when their economic lives are at stake.

Working upon this basis, some authorities here have been looking into British and German trade with Latin America. They have found ample cause for British sincerity in this fight and little ground to believe she might make peace until Hitler aggression is eliminated.

The figures show Hitler has more than restored Germany's pre-World War trade with the 20 leading Latin American republics and has done practically all of it at the expense of the British.

His pre-World War percentage of the Latin-American market was 16.55; in 1918 it was gone entirely; in 1937 he had 15.3 per cent; in 1938 he had 17.1. Britain had 24.42 per cent of Latin buying in 1913; only 12.6 in 1937 and this diminished to 12.2 in 1938.

The U. S. has been doing what Hitler has done to us down south, but the figures show no damage yet. In 1913 we had 25.03 per cent of the Latin buying, in 1937 our share of the market had been increased to 34.3 and in 1938 it increased to 35.8.

Note—Official figures are not yet available to show what Hitler has done to British markets in Central Europe (Austria and Czechoslovakia) or in the Far East, but it was worse than in Latin America.

China is doomed to the same fate as Poland. The prospect is foreseen here as a certain result of the Japanese-Russian peace deal.

In Poland, German nazism is taking the aggressor's share, will set up a buffer Polish state, and let weak and willing Russia take the leavings. The Japanese-Russian truce was almost an announcement that Japan will enact the same Hitler role in the Far East, with Russia selling out there at its usually low price.

It was apparent after Hitler had betrayed his anti-commintern ally, Japan, that his diplomats were trying to promote this deal. He seemed to be saying to Japan and Russia in the Chicago vernacular: "Why don't you two fellows get wise to yourselves and quit fighting over China. There is room for all of us in this racket. Be smart: divide up the country between you."

As in gangland, these expedients are drifting toward an inevitable result. After they have conquered Asia and Europe, they will then have to conquer each other.

Reports that Almer Andrews would be elevated out of the wage-hour administratorship has caused no gloom in Madame Perkins' labor department. The unwritten headline on the story should have been: "The madam gets her man—out."

There are more reasons for Andrews' difficulties than anything that has happened in Washington lately. One is he was victimized by left wing chiques in his own organization. Power of the CIO United Federal Workers of America Union in the organization was strong. Several WFO officials were being mentioned in the Dies committee executive sessions. The outfit listed decidedly to port.

Officially the background explanation is being offered that he failed to offer the south differential in textile wages, but this was apparently only a last straw. A recitation of his personnel raiding congressional patronage and budget troubles would be too long for this column.

John Lewis had better investigate the seat of any administration chairs before depositing his bulk hereafter. Labor authorities in the government have their pins out for him—and this means hat pins and rolling pins, not safeties. Mildest thing they are calling him in conversation is "ingrate."

The epochal Lewis renunciation of Roosevelt may have been lost upon the war-distraction public but not here. His break is attributed by them solely to his desire to hit the frontpages.

Less partial observers believe the break was natural. Lewis had about played out his string with the administration. He was formerly a Republican, undoubtedly he scented a Republican victory next time (his speech was prepared before the war started.)

Administration is becoming aroused by inside reports that Germany and Italy are trying to torpedo the Panama conference. If England is doing anything, our authorities have not heard of it.

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

YESTERDAY: Buff's parents come to Boulder to find out what she is up to. Buff confesses to her mother that she is "head over heels" about Tim.

A Father's Advice
Neither woman was surprised to have Lance arrive early with Tim, pondered and a little angry, in tow.

Lance triumphantly exhibited a notebook crammed with sketches. "Got 'em hanging around Corliss' office," he explained. "Wondered what Corliss types. Ed, I think we'll stay on here a week or so. Too bad Buff hasn't room for us, but then the hotel's comfortable enough. Corliss has promised to show me some types that will fit right into my plans for that new series."

Buff was demure and quiet through the meal. Lance's exuberance made any other attitude impossible, and it pleased her to see Tim thawing out minute by minute, and the genuine interest the older man displayed in his work.

Confronted by Buff's father, and feeling an apology due for his long stay at the ranch, Tim had tried to put into words something of what had happened to him.

He was halfway through his second stumbling sentence when the cartoonist gripped him excitedly by the arm.

"Look, Tim, I'll follow outside! Tim, my boy, go out and engage him in conversation for five minutes will you? Five will do, though if you could make it ten 'get a move on!'"

Toward the end of the afternoon, when Lance firmly annexed him for dinner, Tim made a second and more determined effort.

"Mr. Corliss, about Buff, I think you ought to know— I know Buff, and that's all that's necessary," Lance chuckled. "If she's picked you as her partner for the march up a church aisle, my boy, you might as well give up first as last. What that daughter wanted to say was 'go ahead, Tim. It's simpler to yield than to fight, I've found.'"

Tim's jaw set stubbornly. "You must do as you think best, of course, sir, but remember I'm not her father. I want to make it clear to you that Buff is staying in Boulder because she chooses to, not because of any persuasion on my part."

Lance nodded, turned his head and with admiration a grizzled man who might be either a WPA worker, or a miner, Tim thought with grim amusement.

The Carrolls spent ten days in Boulder. Lance was here, there and everywhere in his usual friendly way.

The Denver and Boulder papers were highly excited by his presence and he was generous with interviews. Buff did not know whether it was by chance or by intention that each newspaper story contained some mention of Timothy Corliss, friend and recent guest of the famous artist.

George Corliss, smiling radiantly, that Tim was now the town's white-headed boy, his recent escapade with Iris DeMuth apparently forgotten by popular consent.

The evening before, Tim had told her, she had a serious talk with their only child. Queerly enough it was Lance who began it.

"Buff, that young man of yours is all right," he announced. "She said, 'If he only were my young man! But he behaves as though I had a peculiarly loathsome form of leprosy, or something.'"

"Burned Child!"

Carroll shook his head indulgently. "Defense mechanism. He's a lot more attracted to you than he knows himself, or would admit if he did know. He's a burned child just now and sets in a fire when you go to afford a grateful warmth if used in moderation. Stick around, Buff! Cold weather comes early up here."

"That's honestly your advice, Lance?"

Father and daughter exchanged a long look; a look which made Eleanor feel momentarily isolated.

She reminded herself that Buff had always been more Lance's child than hers. She was endowed with his ability to get his own way, gifted with his happy-go-lucky charm.

"My advice—honestly. At least for a few months. Between us, Weekes and I have hauled him by his shell—for the time being at least."

To her amazement he tossed his notebook of sketches onto the table. "No earthly use to me. Course, but priceless as a means of putting me in touch with his fellow man after last summer's debacle. He's out now—of his shell, I mean. It's up to you to keep him there, my little one."

Buff, grasping the significance of these ten days' wasted effort as Lance's own work was concerned—laid her cheek against her father's hand.

"You're—your pretty swell, darling," she told him huskily. "And if I can't carry you from where you're leaving off, I don't deserve him."

"Or he doesn't deserve you!" Eleanor could not forbear the comment.

Lance disposed of the subject so far as he was concerned. "Tim's all right. What happened to him might have happened to any young fellow. The thing is that he's not played enough—got around to see people. He's made a fetish of work and responsibility. When he thought

(The British did plenty against us at Lima.)

Some Democratic politicians are deeply but silently mourning the proposed transfer of Young Democrat headquarters to Chicago October 1. To them it means the loss of the organization as a propaganda agency for national headquarters (Charles Michelson.) They blame the loss of the presidential Banasher Tom Corcoran and Senator Pepper of Florida, both of whom haunted the Young Democrat convention in Pittsburgh in behalf of their own state of officers. They won the election, but apparently defeated themselves.

he'd failed at both, and lost his ideal woman besides, the sky fell for so he believed. Give him a little time to regain his sense of proportion."

He rose, stretching his big frame in relief. "You're perfectly safe here with Mrs. Webb. You ought to have enough spare time to do a little writing. Won't hurt Tim to realize you have other interests, you know. I think your mother and I will go to Bermuda. Early enough to escape the tourists. Kiss your fond parents goodnight, dear child, and don't forget to write."

"Letters, stories or one-act plays?" Buff called after him. "All of 'em!" He swept his wife from the doorway where she lingered, gazing mournfully at Buff. "Come along, sweet! Remember that our train leaves at an ungodly hour tomorrow morning!"

Popularity
The friends of little town of Boulder took Buff to its heart almost overnight. Tim Corliss, coming dutifully and reluctantly to pay a late afternoon call on his erstwhile hostess, was arrested by sounds of hilarity from the living room.

"I didn't know Miss Buff was having a party," he said to Webby, who had admitted him.

"No more she is; unless you call every afternoon a party. Miss Buff and we guided you might as well serve tea every day. These here young folks that drop in are always hungry. You go right on in, Mr. Corliss, as I urged hospitably. Miss Buff'll be glad to see you."

He ceremoniously presented his own chair to Tim; "as if I were ninety, or thereabouts," Tim mused with hostility. When the tea was brought, Van doubled his long legs perilously close to the other man's feet. "If he only knew how they itch to kick him!"

"Cosy little joint here, eh what?" he began. "Nice child, our hostess, in spite of having brains. Personally I prefer a gray matter as is compatible with making a man comfortable. But Buff—"

"Are you speaking of Miss Carroll?" inquired Tim coldly. "Van stares at me other, but why the formality? Buff is much easier to say, believe me! Lucky break for me, having her move into this apartment. I'm perpetually out of groceries. I'm my own housekeeper, you see. And Buff—old Webby come to my rescue."

"What else do you do besides housekeeping?"

An expression of deep gravity settled upon the other's face.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Relatives and friends here were gathered to hear of the death of Charles Pippert, who passed away at his home in Rock Falls on Wednesday. Mr. Pippert's death occurred just a year to the day after the passing of his wife. He had been in ill health for the past few years and reached the age of 60 years.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Eliza Grennan, at home, a son Lyle of Sterling, two grandchildren and two brothers, John and William Pippert both of Sterling. A host of cousins and other relatives in the vicinity of Ashton also mourn his passing.

Funeral services were held on Friday afternoon at the Rock Falls funeral home, and those from here who attended were Mrs. George Schnell, daughter of Verle Drummond, Mrs. John Ventler, Mrs. Boyd Butler, Mr. and Mrs. George Vogeler, Mrs. John Walter, Mrs. Henry Vogeler, Conrad Pfeiffer and Henry Pfeiffer. Mr. and Mrs. Mandel Kersten of south of Rochelle also attended. The interment took place in the Rock Falls cemetery.

GRIESE REUNION

Sunday, September 24 is the date chosen for the annual Griesse reunion. Members of that clan will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Kersten this year, where a scramble dinner will be enjoyed at the noon hour. Funeral services for Verle Drummond, whose untimely death occurred in an auto accident last Tuesday morning, were held on Friday afternoon at the local Methodist church. The services were conducted by Rev. Albert H. Northrup of Lindbergh, Indiana, former pastor of the Chana and Lighthouse Methodist churches, and the minister who performed the ceremony at the time of his marriage.

A large audience of sorrowing friends and relatives attended the services and the floral offerings were profuse and impressively beautiful. Comforting funeral hymns were sung by Mrs. Rita Biggers and Dorothy Canfield, accompanied at the organ by John D. Charters. Burial was made in the Lighthouse cemetery and the casket bearers were Roy Faber, Glen Mehlihausen, Junior Hinz, Guy Shippee, Burton Hinz and Bob Maxon.

Verle Drummond

Verle Drummond, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Drummond was born September 18, 1908, and would have observed his 31st birthday yesterday. He attended the rural grade school and later the local high school.

On June 14, 1936, he was united in marriage to Charlene Grover, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Grover. To this union a daughter, Frisella Jo, was born on January 31, 1939.

He is survived by his widow and little daughter, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Drummond, and one sister, Mrs. Helen Carr of Rochelle.

Verle was active in the social and religious life of the community. He was well known and respected by the entire community. In his youth he took an active part in the Methodist Epworth League and was a regular attendant of the boys' class of the Methodist Sunday school. During the pastorate of the late Rev. W. E. Kern he joined the Methodist Episcopal church of this city. Or later years he has been attendant of the older classes of the Sunday school. The sympathy of the community is extended to those who mourn his loss.

Funeral services for Henry S. Jeanguenat, whose death occurred at his home in Ashton Friday afternoon, were held at St. Patrick's church in Dixon yesterday morning. Private family services were held at the Stephan funeral home in Ashton, preceding the services at the church. Interment was made at Chapel Hill Memorial Park.

GAME HERE SUNDAY

The bigwigs of the Knacks championship baseball team are dictating for a game here Sunday with some out-of-town club. As yet the opponents have not been determined. However, Hi Emmert and Bert Cummings are going to Mt. Morris to see Nelson Potter of the Philadelphia Athletics and try to arrange for him to pitch here Sunday.

TO DE KALB

John Naylor left this morning for Northern Illinois State Teachers college at DeKalb. John reports that besides working out at the library, he'll also be out for football. Others from Dixon also attending the DeKalb normal school this year include Russell Bush, Coeman O'Hare, Warren Burrs and Junior Blimling.

BEAR FACTS

Rocky Wolfe writes that extra long drill sessions and nightly classes are the orders of the week for the Chicago Bears football club who have started preparation for the annual invasion of the Green Bay Packers next Sunday. It is no secret that the Bears fear the northerners and Coach Curly Lambeau is reported just as candid in returning the compliment. To many fans of both teams, Sunday's game may go a long way toward determining the Western Division tilt.

NEW BOOK

There's a new book at the public library called "How to Play Six-Man Football." The edition contains rules and strategy of the game, equipment, officiating, formations and plays with diagrams. Barbour is the author. Six-man football, like softball, is making inroads into the parent sport and should prove popular with the smaller schools.

BIG TEN TALK

Although National Collegiate football rules makers have attempted a balance between offense and defense in their legislative restrictions and liberalizations, Western Conference gridiron coaches apparently have overcome that balance with an increasing emphasis on offense. Since 1933 Big Ten football teams have increased their scoring average per game by six points. In 1933 Big Ten teams scored an average of 14 points per game, or better than a touchdown for each team. That scoring average was lifted to 18 points per game in 1937 and last year in all their games Big Ten teams showed an average scoring total of 20 points.

OFFICIALS FOR FRIDAY'S GAMES

Fred Parker of Rockford, Willard Powers of Mt. Morris and Ralph Johnson of Rockford will be the officials for the Rock Falls-Dixon football games here Friday afternoon.

NEW CANDIDATES

Cyrle Shank and Don Shiaras, both sophomores, are new candidates for football at Dixon high school and have been assigned to equipment.

WOMEN BOWLERS TO MEET

There will be a meeting of all women bowlers at the Dixon Recreation Thursday night at 7:30. Plans for the coming season will be discussed.

Race in National League Narrows to Contest Between Reds and Time

By BILL BONI

Associated Press Sports Writer

When and if the Cincinnati Reds win the National League pennant, a large part of the credit must go to Manager Bill McKechnie's ability to find something useful in players who have been cast aside as useless by other teams.

Any way you look at it now, the race in the senior circuit has narrowed down to a contest between the Reds and time. The St. Louis Cardinals still are a threat but every day the Reds hang onto their 3½ game lead makes the job that much tougher for the Cards.

And to help his club hang on, McKechnie has done some surprising things. His prize exhibit, of course, is Bucky Walters, the converted infielder who never really showed his pitching ability until this year. Then Bill picked up Al Simmons for the punch that might be left in his bat; he grabbed off Johnny Niggeling to strengthen his pitching staff for the final drive, and in his latest move, called in the American Association home run king, Vince Di Maggio, as soon as Kansas City was through the season.

Not Eligible For Series
Vince won't be eligible for the World Series, but wise Will figures "he ought to do us some good" before the season ends. Vince played before McKechnie, but Casey Stengel sent him back to the minors because of his failure to hit.

Di Maggio broke in as a pinch hitter yesterday and struck out just the way he used to for the Reds. But in spite of that, the Reds moved a shade nearer the title. They split a doubleheader with Boston, and the Cards did likewise against the New York Giants. That left the standing looking like this:

Cincinnati—Won 86, lost 53 and 15 games to play.
St. Louis—won 83, lost 57, 3½ games behind and 13 to play. One game with New York cancelled.

Reds Beat Bees
The Reds beat the Bees 4-1 behind Whitney Moore's six-hit fling while the Cards were losing to the Giants, 7-2. But in the second sections of those twin hills Cincinnati felt a foul of some fine relief hurling by the Bees' George Barnicle, and lost 5-4, and the Cardinals let loose with their heaviest gun to bury the Giants, 15-5. Biggest gun in the barrage was Johnny Mize, who drove in four runs with a homer, double and three singles.

With the Dodgers and Cubs, rivals for third place, idle, the only other National League game saw the Pirates trim the Phillies, 7-4, in a contest marked by the extension of Paul Waner's hitting streak through 19 games.

Back To Normal
In the American League, things went back to normal as the tail-end St. Louis Browns bowed to the Champion New York Yankees, 6-2.

The Cleveland Indians dusted off the Athletics, 9-4, and thus drew up even with the idle Chicago White Sox in third place. In the other engagement, Washington's Dutch Leonard hung up No. 19 with a seven-hit, 4-2 trimming of the Detroit Tigers.

commendation from Schmidt. Most of the drill was confined to blocking and pass defense.

However, scrimmages were on at a number of the other Big Ten camps as the second week of practice started.

At Minnesota the scrimmage lasted only 20 minutes. In that time the varsity scored four touchdowns, three by Harold Van Every. Two touchdowns was the net result of an hour's skirmish at Illinois. Paul Milosevich, a sophomore ends, scoring both on passes from Chuck Purvis.

At Purdue
Purdue also scrimmaged for an hour after which Coach Elward decided all four teams needed more offensive polish. Wisconsin had a brief get together.

Several injuries, including a dislocated elbow by Dennis Kuhn, veteran tackle reserve, cropped out at Michigan where Coach Fritz Crisler stressed defensive tactics. Northwestern and Chicago drilled at fundamentals. Bo McMillin was occupied in juggling his lineup at Indiana. Iowa showed up sluggish in its first workout of the week.

It costs between $750 and $1000 to train an African elephant, but he pays good dividends when put to work on the Congo plantations of the Belgian government.

Rock Falls Invades Dixon Gridiron Friday

FOOTBALL TEAMS OF NEIGHBORHOOD INTO ACTION SOON

Rock Falls, Bright With Hope, to Invade Light Dixon Camp

Attacks from the air, man-to-man offense and strategy tactics are all being given finishing touches as the zero hour in the football wars of the prep schools draws nearer. This week end several of the neighborhood schools will make their first "over the top" drives.

Of major interest to local fans is the invasion of Dixon soil by the Rock Falls chargers. Other conflicts include Mt. Carroll at Polo, Kewanee at Princeton, Morris at Mendota, Harlem at Mt. Morris, DeKalb at Rochelle, Walnut at Toulon, Freeport lightweights at Amboy and Morrison at Sterling. All engagements are scheduled for Friday night with the exception of the Dixon-Rock Falls game which will be played Friday afternoon.

Prospects are Good

From Rock Falls the prospects for the season have appeared bright with Coach Quire holding something of a pat hand. Among the men returning from last year's squad to brighten the hopes of the fans are Donald Smith, captain and end, William Ricedorf, end, Glen Burns, tackle, Charles Morris, guard, Clifford Robinson, left half, and Jim Higgins, right half.

Dixon's offense will be the "charge of the light brigade" as Coach Lindell sends into the field a line which can't average more than 150 pounds, representing one of the most decidedly featherweight teams in the history of the school.

Lineup is Uncertain

This may or may not be the lineup to face the Rock Falls team on Friday afternoon. On that point Coach Lindell himself is not certain.

Last year Rock Falls won its sixth straight championship in the Rock River conference while Dixon nabbed the fourth straight title in the North Central division. As to the results of these two title-holding clubs in their game here Friday, no one can be certain. If anything, neutral observers might be giving Rock Falls a slight advantage by virtue of experience and weight.

In the battle between the two schools last year the season opened for both squads with a mud-pie victory for Dixon, 6 to 0, as the boys emerged from the rain-soaked gridiron looking like 22 Al Jolson.

There is some talk—however, not definite yet—of starting Friday's date with the heavyweight game and following with the lightweight affair. This would give the grade school children who are more familiar with those who will play on Mary Winger's team, a chance to see the game they prefer and also does not endanger the chance of darkness overtaking the more important heavyweight battle.

LOUISVILLE COLONELS DASH FOR LITTLE WORLD SERIES

Indianapolis, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Those red-hot Louisville Colonels, who barely got into the American Association play-off, still are on fire in their mad dash to play in a "Little World Series" for the first time since 1930.

Indianapolis Indians' were sizzling, too, in the first half of the play-off to determine the Association representative in the series with the International League winner, but Louisville chilled them last night more than the weather man did the 4,056 paying customers.

Yank Terry, who hails from right here in Indiana, set the tribe down with seven hits while the Colonels pounded away to earn a 5 to 1 victory in the first game of play-off finals that means $4,000 to the winners in addition to a cut of the gate at the "Little World Series." The losers in the present series will collect $2,000.

Louisville finished fourth in regular season play, 31½ games back of first place Kansas City. Indianapolis was third, 25 games out of first place. In the first round of the play-off Louisville eliminated Minneapolis and Indianapolis dropped Kansas City.

State Loop Wins All-Star Battle at W. Brooklyn

In the Sunday game between the all-stars of the Illinois Valley and Illinois State leagues at West Brooklyn the Lee county players scored their winning run in the last of the seventh when Grove singled, Morrissey fanned, Welty popped out, Knauer singled and Grove scored on Appler's hit. Before Full grounded out. The final score gave the State leaguers 7 against 6 by the visiting squad.

In the first inning Appler walked, Full bunted to the pitcher who threw low to first and Appler went to third and Full to second. Studzinski hit a grounder to shortstop and Appler was nailed at home. The catcher threw wild to second to catch Studzinski and Full and Studzinski both romped the bases to home plate.

Second Inning

In the second chapter Trowbridge walked, Knauer singled, Appler doubled and the first two runners scored.

Knauer singled out on a fielder's choice to Appler in the fourth frame, Full walked and Studzinski was safe on an error to load the sacks. Manne singled to score Appler and Full. Edwards whiffed and Grove popped out.

The Valley leaguers scored one run in the first, and five in the sixth. One double play was credited to the winners from Matrinkus, to Morrissey, to Manne, Knauer, pitching for the State league, struck out 13 and walked two while Vickery did the hurling for the Valley team and struck out three and walked four. Full was credited with two sacrifice hits.

Pitt Men Say Force of Tradition Will Carry on Without Sutherland

Pittsburgh, Sept. 19.—(AP)—It's a tough football year for the ferocious Pitt Panther, much because of the loss of Ringmaster Jock Sutherland, but Pitt men say the force of Panther tradition—winning—will carry on.

No question about it, the alumni are a little anxious over the first absence in 16 years of the great Sutherland, who guided Pitt to the imposing record of 111 wins, 20 losses and 12 ties during his regime, to say nothing of four trips to Pasadena's Rose Bowl.

The silent Scot resigned last spring after differences with the university's athletic council, and was succeeded by 40-year-old Charlie Bowser, a former understudy.

Cognizant of the big responsibility on his shoulders, Charlie isn't saying much about the chances until after the important opener with the University of Washington Huskies at Seattle Sept. 30. That game will provide the first clue to whether victory still will be customary with Pitt.

Other Problems on hand:

1. Reduction of practice hours in accordance with Big Ten regulations, which Pitt has adopted to a cut of the gate at the "Little World Series." The losers in the present series will collect $2,000.

2. A slowing-up in acquiring top-notchers through abandonment of the policy of offering inducements to prospective athletes.

3. The schedule is one of the toughest.

4. The team man power is below the usual Pitt par. Hence a great deal depends on the Pitt tradition coming through. "Pitt is used to winning—we don't play

STUDENTS THREATEN ANOTHER WALKOUT IN GRID SQUABBLE

Cuba, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Striking students of Cuba high school agreed to return to the classrooms today but threatened to renew their walkout tomorrow unless the school board agreed to restore football to the list of extra-curricular activities.

Yesterday 135 students, a large share of the enrollment, went on strike, refused to attend classes and paraded with signs reading "no football, no school."

Football was dropped six years ago for economy reasons. Baseball, played each autumn, was dropped this year, too. Supt. Earl Dugan promised to intercede with the school board.

U. S. OFFERS TO HOLD OLYMPICS

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The European war may give the United States its second Olympic meeting in eight years—but the odds are against it.

If Finland, which already has started preparations, is unable to stage the 1940 games, the American Olympic committee would be willing to pinch hit, said Chairman Avery Brundage.

"We could handle them if there were time enough to prepare for games of the usual high Olympic standard, but I am not certain we would have that much time," Brundage said.

Besides, he pointed out, Finland would have to abandon formally its plans to hold the games before a transfer move could be made. Even then spread of war might prevent representation by many countries, which, Brundage remarked, would leave America without a good reason for holding the games.

"Games would not be Olympic games unless they were international in character," Brundage averred.

Finland Goes Ahead
As late as last week, Brundage said, a Finnish spokesman had declared "Finland was determined to carry out its plans if at all possible." Finland took over the job when Japan became engaged in the Sino-Japanese conflict and cancelled the games which had been scheduled for Tokyo in 1940.

Despite many letters and telegrams urging the A. O. C. to seek a transfer of the games because of the war, Brundage said the final word remained with Finland. The American Olympic committee for information regarding Finland's plans, but that there had not been enough time for an answer.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Whitey Moore, Reds, and George Barnicle, Bees—Moore pitched six-hitter to win opener. Barnicle, entering nightcap in fifth, held Reds to one safety.

Roy Weatherly and Ben Chapman, Indians—Split six of Cleveland's 13 hits in 9-4 rout of Athletics.

Maurice Van Robays and Arky Vaughan, Pirates—Their homers, each with one on, clinched victory over Phillies.

Dutch Leonard, Senators—His knuckle ball held Tigers to seven hits and won him 19th decision of season.

Tom Hafey, Giants, and Johnny Mize, Cardinals—Former's three-run homer provided winning margin in first game; Mize, after bagging triple in first game, got five for five in second, including homer and double.

Bump Hadley, Yankees—Set down Browns with five hits and fanned eight.

Newport News, Va.—Buddy Knox, 188½, Dayton, O., outpointed Freddy Fiducia, 194½, Newark, N. J. (10).

San Francisco—Vern Bybee, 126, Ogden, Utah, stopped Olin Loy, 124, Los Angeles (8).

JOE LOUIS MEETS PASTOR IN RING TOMORROW NIGHT

Bomber is Determined to Show Bob Was Lucky in Former Match

Detroit, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Joe Louis, ready to defend the world's heavyweight championship against Bob Pastor tomorrow night, has contempt and hatred in his heart for his challenger.

Personal feeling rarely has played any part in Louis' fights, but the negro titleholder has no liking for Pastor because of statements attributed to him and his manager, James J. Johnson, since Pastor surprisingly stayed the ten round limit with Joe in their battle in New York in January, 1937.

Louis is determined to prove that Pastor was extremely lucky to last the ten rounds. He is supremely confident of stopping Pastor within five rounds. The champion places this time limit on the duration of the bout even should Pastor attempt to run away from him.

The champion said: "I'm going to catch Pastor just as fast as I can. There ain't no use me foolin' around with him. The sooner I catch him the sooner my work will be finished."

Scheduled for 20 Rounds

Tomorrow night's battle, scheduled for 20 rounds, will be the first over that route in 25 years, since Jess Willard won the heavyweight crown from Jack Johnson in Havana in 1915. Supposedly, that distance favors Pastor, who is convinced he will out-finish Louis because of his defensive skill and experience gained in longer fights. Pastor says Louis can easily be bewildered by feinting, causing him to miss his blows, blink his eyes and throw up his hands in an instinctive defensive gesture, Pastor says he will take advantage of that momentary befuddlement with offensive blows of his own.

Pastor, idle since last Thursday in an obvious effort to gain weight, breaks camp at Brighton, Mich., today to move into the battleground. Manager Johnston said that Pastor, in refraining from boxing, was merely following a custom of a long rest period before a fight.

Jacobs is Confident

Reporting an advance sale of $300,000, Promoter Mike Jacobs expressed confidence the fight would attract a gate of at least $400,000. A sharp drop in temperature, bringing autumn chill, caused a measure of apprehension in the last minute demand for tickets, but that was no worry to Promoter Jacobs, who calmly went about the task of converting Briggs stadium, home of the Detroit Tigers, into a fight arena. The ring was pitched over second base and above it huge strings of lights were swung into position. The infield and a portion of the outfield were hidden beneath 12,500 rindside chairs and raised tiers of seats. The park has a seating capacity of 65,000 at prices ranging from $2.50 for bleacher seats to $27.50 for ringsides.

The third man in the ring will be chosen from these three: Elmer (Slim) McClelland, Sam Hennessey and Clarence Rosen, all Detroiters.

Pastor Jacobs doesn't even want to discuss the possibility of a postponement because of rain but, if the weather forces one, the fight will be held on the first clear night following.

Louis and Pastor will weigh in at the Michigan state fair grounds here at noon tomorrow. Pastor expects to scale 187 pounds and Louis about 201.

YEARS AGO

Outstanding News of Dixon and Vicinity In the Past

(From Dixon Telegraph)

38 YEARS AGO

Mail Carrier Louis Atkins is taking a two weeks vacation.
R. C. Filson is now the sole proprietor of the grocery, flour and feed store at the corner of Depot avenue and Sixth street.

Will Schuler has gone to Medicine Lodge, Kan., to look after a ranch he owns there, taking with him his son Bernie.

25 YEARS AGO

William Gumbly is being held at the county jail awaiting the outcome of the condition of Modeste Henry of Compton who was hit in the head with a glass yesterday afternoon.

Dale Rosenkrans of Paw Paw; Bowden Jesse, Amboy, and Lewis E. Miller, Paw Paw, will represent Lee county at the annual state fair school at Springfield.

The tile roof at the library is being removed and will be replaced.

10 YEARS AGO

Announcement was made today that Dixon is to be headquarters for district No. 2 of the state highway police system.

The Dixon Independents football team are practicing for the selection of a first string lineup to participate in a schedule of games this fall.

HAMBLETONIAN WINNER SEEKS ADDED TRACK GLORY TODAY

Indianapolis, Sept. 19.—(AP)—

Peter Astra, the three-year-old trotter that won the $40,000 Hambletonian stake this year, took to the track today in quest of more glory for himself and more prize money for his "Country Doctor" owner, Dr. L. M. Guilinger of Andover, Ohio.

Peter Astra, with a 2:02 1/4 record, and a half dozen more of the country's best trotters are entered in the $7,000 three-year-old stallion stake that tops a special harness racing program at the Indiana state fairgrounds. The race was brought here after the cancellation of the Grand Circuit program at Cleveland.

If the weather and the track conditions are right, Greyhound, 1:55 1/4, will make an attempt to shatter his own world record for the mile, and Dean Hanover, 1:58 1/4, may try to crack the stallion trotting mark of 1:58 1/4 held by Lee Axworthy, now dead.

Other Developments

The presidential statement last night was only one of the repercussions of the European war sounded in a capital astral with preparations for the special session of congress Thursday. Other developments:

1. Secretary Morgenthau said he was disturbed by the decline in the British pound and was seeking means of combating speculation in the currency.

2. Secretary Wallace called his newly-appointed agricultural advisory council today to discuss farm and food supply situations.

3. Mr. Roosevelt issued an executive order providing for an increase of 2,000 men in the coast guard. It was understood the addition was necessitated by the extensive patrol of the Atlantic by coast guard and naval vessels, designed to watch activities of belligerent war vessels in the approaches to the United States and the Panama Canal.

Borah Sees Rift

4. Discussion of administration proposals to revise the neutrality law continued, with Senator Borah (R-Idaho), outspoken foe of the suggested changes, contending that a rift had developed in the ranks of administration supporters as a result of the recent signs of friendliness between Germany, Russia and Japan.

5. The German embassy asserted in a statement that retreating Polish troops left mustard gas mines on a bridge in violation of a 1925 pact outlawing poisonous gas warfare.

Borah said he believed the Russian action in Poland increased the chances for peace "but not right away." He thought this might come about through British and French acceptance of German peace proposals after the former had concluded "they had discharged their obligation to Poland."

The administration's proposal to repeal the embargo provisions of the neutrality law, Borah asserted, has lost support in the last two weeks because of the possibility that war goods might be shipped from this country to Germany by way of Russia or Japan.

The administration plan would allow warring nations to buy supplies here if they paid cash and transported them in their own ships. It has been believed generally that British naval power would prevent Germany's obtaining American supplies under such conditions.

Borah expressed the opinion that England and France had been "pulling their punches" on the western front.

"There is something phony about this war," he said. It would have been expected, he added, that Britain and France would make their big attack while Germany and Russia were "engaged in the east."

OHIO NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Smith and Mrs. Emma Anderson spent the week end with Curtis Fagan and family in Naperville. Mrs. Eva Howard spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haas near Van Orin. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Funk and daughter of Kansas City, Mo., were guests Wednesday and Thursday of Mrs. Funk's brother, G. S. Remsburg, and family. Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Foley and son Michael drove to Macomb Tuesday where the latter will attend teachers' college. Mr. and Mrs. Foley spent the night with relatives in Peoria, returning home Wednesday. Miss Mary Alice Quinn went to River Forest Wednesday, where she will continue her studies at Rosary college. A. Salzman accompanied Miss Quinn to River Forest, returning home in the evening. Mrs. Mary Gugerty and daughter, Miss Laura Rapp, of Peoria, and Miss Mary Clinton spent Wednesday with Mrs. Helen Paige Freeman and family in Aurora. Morris J. Wolfe who had been a resident at Mercy home in this city for many years, passed away on Sunday night, Sept. 10 at Ryburn-King hospital in Ottawa where he had been a patient for the past month. Funeral services were held at St. Columba's Catholic church in Ottawa on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock with burial in St. Columba's cemetery in Ottawa. The Ladies Aid society of the Lutheran church enjoyed a picnic at Lake Michigan on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ivan Ioder in Dixon. Miss Marie G. Walters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Walters of Princeton, and Robert H. Meeseke, son of Mrs. Ernest Meeseke of Wyoming, were married Aug. 20 in Muscatine, Iowa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. B. Milne, pastor of the First Congregational church, and the bride was escorted by the Rev. Ernest Meeseke. Mrs. Meeseke is a graduate of a beauty school in Kewanee. For the past few years she has operated a beauty parlor in Northampton, Mass. Mr. Meeseke is a graduate of Wyoming high school and Northwestern university in Evanston. He is now employed as an auditor with the division of unemployment compensation and social security board with headquarters in Peoria. Mr. and Mrs. Meeseke will reside at 518 Columbia Terrace in Peoria. Rev. Robert Mulligan and the Misses Alice Jensen and Esther Belle Keeton entertained the Christian Endeavor society of the Methodist church at the Louis Jensen home Friday evening. Games were played on the lawn and refreshments were served. Members and friends of the Ohio Methodist church held an informal reception in the church parlors last Tuesday evening for their pastor, Rev. Robert Mulligan, who is entering upon his duties as pastor of this church for the fourth year. Rev. Mulligan received his B. A. degree from North Central college in Naperville on June 5, and was ordained by the Methodist conference in Lexington, Mo., on Aug. 21 of this year. A bountiful covered dish supper, in charge of the Loyal Women's class, was served at 6:30 at long tables which were very attractive with bouquets of autumn flowers. Mrs. Arden Jackson gave a brief address of welcome and appreciation, to which Rev. Mulligan graciously responded. Several musical numbers were given and a social time followed. when A NIGHT AT THE MOULIN ROUGE will appear at the MASONIC AUDITORIUM

Without question here is the most important event in the entertainment history of this section of America. In magnitude alone A NIGHT AT THE MOULIN ROUGE exceeds any other indoor entertainment that has ever before toured the land—over 150 persons in the ensemble... and 95% lovely girls. In the effulgence of its status A NIGHT AT THE MOULIN ROUGE excels all previous attractions, even on the transcendent stage of the mighty Olympia, and the teeming flicker of a Japanese globe. HELEN MORGAN, RITA RAY and her ALL-GIRL ORCHESTRA, you know, NAGH, BUSTER SHAWER with OLIVE & GEORGE, TOBY WING, ADA LEONARD, STILES BRIDGES, SHARON DE VRIES, LE PAILLON, LES SOEURS TRYON, RUDY MASON & HINTON SISTERS, STAPLES & CERNY, 24 DOROTHY BYRON DANCERS and a CONGRESS OF DELECTABLE GIRLHOOD, to fire the brain of an octogenarian Troopist monk. An extravaganza done a la maniere Francaise... les plaiers Parisiens... a veritable peek over the transom at the gay night life of Montmartre. Conceived and created by NEW KOMAROV & M. KOMAROFF, and JEAN LE SEVUX, co-producers of the 1931 and 1933 revues at Folies Bergere, Paris, and French Casino Chicago (1934) and Casino New York (1935). A two-and-a-half hour show plus ninety minutes dancing open to holders of reserved seat tickets. Such a brief is A NIGHT AT THE MOULIN ROUGE... mark the date.

Never before has its like been seen outside of Paris, New York and Chicago... by the way, better not bring the children. It's not the kind of show to appear in Boston or Philadelphia, you know, and perhaps the pious Governor of Michigan would be shocked. But it's just what smart, sophisticated adults want to see.

SWAB, FAMED STRONG MAN OF STEEL, IS DEAD

Coronary Thrombosis Ends Fabulous Career of Industrialist

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Death at 77 has ended the fabulous career of Charles M. Schwab, the $1-a-day stake-driver who became one of America's steel Titans.

The white-haired onetime "strong man of steel," first president of the billion-dollar U. S. Steel Corporation and founder of the Bethlehem Steel Company, died peacefully in his Park Avenue apartment last night of coronary thrombosis.

At his bedside were his brother, Edward, and the latter's wife.

Schwab, who returned August 31 from Europe, had been in poor health since the death last January of his wife.

Funeral services, his brother said, probably will be held Thursday at St. Patrick's cathedral.

Schwab's other survivors were two sisters, Mrs. David Barry and Sister Cecilia, a nun in the Carmelite Monastery, Loretto, Pa., which Schwab built for the order.

Horatio Alger Theme

His climb to wealth, like the rise of the elder John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford, became an industrial legend, built along the classic Horatio Alger theme of rags to riches.

The son of a wool factory mill hand, Schwab quit a $3-a-week job as a grocery clerk to take a laborer's job driving stakes in a steel plant at Braddock, Pa., owned by Carnegie Brothers & Co.

In the evening the 18-year-old boy studied the steel business and gave piano lessons to steelworkers' children at 50 cents an hour. In three years, he was manager of the plant at $250 a month. At 21, he married Emma Eurania Dinkey, daughter of the first steel works chemist in the United States.

Boosted by Carnegie

Schwab soon became labor "troublemaker" for Andrew Carnegie, the steelmaster, who liked the tall, husky young executive and boosted him rapidly. He was only 35 in 1897 when he became president of the Carnegie Steel Company and in three years raised its profits from $7,000,000 to $40,000,000.

The late J. Pierpont Morgan made him president of the newly-formed U. S. Steel Corporation in 1901, but two years later Schwab tore up a million-dollar-a-year contract because he said he was tired of having "too many bosses."

Moved by his self-asserted mania to be the mainspring of any enterprise he embarked upon, Schwab put $15,000,000 of his own money and his limitless energy in the founding of the Bethlehem Steel.
